Flash Floods Trap 15 Scott County Hunters

Group Is Safe After Struggle With Raging Waters Near Fremont

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP) — Torrential rains hit southeast Missouri last night and a number of hunters gathered for the opening of deer season today narrowly escaped with their lives.

The heavy rains sent a number of small streams out of their banks, causing a series of flash floods. Unofficial reports were that about 11 inches of rain fell in a little more than one hour in the Fremont area of Carter County.

Several deer hunters lost both their cars and equipment.

Two St. Louis hunters, Woodrow T. Hunt and Chester Hall, blinded by the downpour, drove into rampaging McKenzie Creek near Piedmont and were swept into the flood.

Hunt, 45, swam out and summoned help. More than two hours later the exhausted Hall, 27, was found a mile downstream clinging to a tree limb in waist deep water. Hall said the car was turning end over end in the flooding creek when he last saw it. They drove into the water at a low water bridge on a road between Clearwater Dam and Piedmont.

A party of 15 deer hunters from Scott County was temporarily trapped in cabins along Big Barnes Creek in the Fremont area. They finally made their way out of the area in 3 cars.

Six other cars were either under water or washed away along with most of their equipment.

The flash flood on McKenzie Creek inundated low-lying sections

Sheriff Cracks Down On Young Tavern Loafers

Following through with his warning to "crack down" on teen-agers hanging around taverns late at night, Sheriff John Dennis and his chief deputy, Bob Davis, accompanied by Albert Coddell and H. H. Platt, Cape Girardeau, and Sam Baker, Marblehill of the Missouri State Liquor Department, made the rounds Saturday night of taverns in Sikeston and other parts of Scott county and arrested two young boys on drinking charges.

Two boys, one 16 years of age and the other 17, were arrested at the Crowder Tavern, through the cooperation of Raymond Gravett, operator of the tavern, Sheriff Dennis said this morning. The 16 year old was allegedly found to have been buying and drinking liquor through the aid of a false registration card. He will face juvenile charges. The 17 year old was reportedly drunk and was taken to jail at Benton to be held for investigation. His parents called for him Sunday.

Sheriff Dennis said he will continue to keep a lookout for teenagers in taverns around the county, and if they are caught in such a place, their parents will find them at Benton in jail.

"We have had several calls from worried parents who ask if we can help find their children," the sheriff said, "and some complain the youths are coming home with the smell of liquor on their breath. We will try to help these parents with their problems as far as we can."

Scholarships To Be Awarded By Semo State

Six one-year scholarships to the Southeast Missouri State College have been approved by the college as prize awards for the Third Annual Southeast Missouri Regional Science Fair. This equals the number given at last year's fair.

Confirmation of the scholarship awards moved preliminary plans for the program well toward completion. According to E. Lawrence Bahn, Regional Science Fair Director and a member of the college faculty, announcements have been sent to district schools and it is anticipated that the 1959 Fair will be the largest to date. Last year 18 schools sent 130 students with their projects to the show. It is expected that this will increase by as much as 25 per cent.

Funds are now being raised so that the winners of the senior division may be awarded all-expense trips to the National Science Fair, which will be at Hartford, Conn., and the Navy Science Award winner to a designated port for a Navy cruise in the fall of 1959. Other awards already pledged include a set of the Grolier Society Book of Science and subscriptions to Science News Letter.

Dates for the Fair have been set for March 31 through April 3, 1959. Exhibits will be set up in the Houck Field House on the College campus. The event is sponsored by the Southeast Missouri State College, the Southeast Missourian, the local daily newspaper, and patronized by southeast Missouri business firms and industries.

Students in grades seven through twelve are eligible to enter projects in the Fair. This includes any public or parochial school in the area served by the college.

ADVERTISING STAFF OF THE STANDARD ATTENDS MEETING AT CAIRO, ILL.

Four members of the advertising staff of the Daily Sikeston Standard, Miss Margaret Manley, Miss Wanda Walls, Roger Denton and Bill Fitzpatrick, attended the "Total Selling" rally held in Cairo, Ill., Saturday at the Hotel Cairo, and which was attended by salesmen from five newspapers in Illinois and Missouri.

Support was pledged for newspapers' Total Selling Program of 1959 at the meeting, which was one of 122 taking place across the nation.

Leading newspaper executives of the area participated in the rally which was under the chairmanship of Earl L. Jewell, advertising director for the Cairo Evening Citizen.

SHUFFIT NURSING HOME

The Missouri Division of Health announces it has issued a Practical Nursing Home License to the Shuffit Nursing Home, it having complied with the basic requirements of Nursing Home Licenses Law of Missouri.

The nursing home is operated by Ira B. Shuffit and is located at 509 Ruth street.

Democrat Chairmen at Odds On How Stiff a Civil Rights Plank Party Should Endorse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic state chairmen are nearly equally divided on whether the party should adopt a strong civil rights plank in 1960 or compromise with the South.

This division of sentiment was apparent in replies received from Democratic leaders in 43 states to an Associated Press inquiry.

The survey disclosed some strong support outside the South for dealing with civil rights on a basis which would not drive Dixie members out of the party in a presidential year.

On the other hand, chairmen of 18 states representing 596 of the 1,372 votes cast in the 1956 national convention took a no-compromise stand. They declared for a strong plank even if it means a Southern walkout.

These 18 states included: New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island in the East; Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Missouri in the Midwest; Colorado, Washington, Oregon and

ROTARY, KIWANIS AND LIONS CLUBS TO JOIN C. OF C. FOR LEGISLATIVE CLINIC TONIGHT

Sikeston's three male civic clubs—the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary—will meet with the Chamber of Commerce today at 6:30 p.m. at the Dunn Hotel for the annual C. of C. Legislative Clinic. Special arrangements have been made by each club for their members to attend the meeting and a large turnout is expected.

James M. Beaird, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, this morning said the program, expected to last about an hour and a half, will open with a dinner at the Dunn. Four officers of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce will then discuss past legislative issues and problems in the State General Assembly, and also issues expected to come before the lawmakers in the coming session.

Here from Jefferson City, state headquarters of the C. of C., are executive vice president, John R. Thompson, his assistant, Ross Anderson, the Legislative Director of the State Chamber, Reuben Papperson, and the director of research for the State Chamber, Bill Brown.

Following the panel discussion type program by the four state C. of C. officers, the meeting will be opened for a question and answer period, in which all present will be asked to pop any question they have and the four visitors will attempt to supply the answers.

Not only are just the members of the three civic clubs mentioned invited to attend the meeting, but Mr. Beaird this morning said anyone interested in legislative problems will also be welcome. However, he added that anyone planning to attend, and not a member of one of the three clubs, should call the Chamber of Commerce office so they can make reservations.

There will be no meeting of the Lions Club Wednesday noon, the members were reminded today by president Raymond Crews, as the regular mid-week meeting has been called off in favor of tonight's C. of C. backed session. However, the Kiwanis will meet for their regular meeting at 6:20 p.m. Tuesday at their regular meeting place for a dinner but no program.

The special program will cause little changes for the Rotarians as this is their regular meeting night and their regular meeting place, so only the meeting time has been changed, from 6 to 6:30 p.m.

SEMO DIVISION, MASW, TO HOLD MEETING HERE TO DISCUSS EDUCATING HANDICAPPED CHILDREN

"The Handicapped Child Goes to School" will be the topic for discussion at the membership meeting of the Southeast Division, MASW, to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 25, in Sikeston, according to Mrs. W. A. Ownbey of Cape Girardeau, local arrangements chairman. The meeting will be held at the Rustic Rock Inn, beginning at 6:30 with dinner. The meeting is open to the public.

A panel of well-qualified participants will present the program. Mr. Lynn Twitty, superintendent of the Sikeston schools, will speak from the standpoint of a school administrator. Mrs. Anne L. O'Hara of St. Marys, will speak from the special education teacher's viewpoint. Dr. James R. Drickey, a member of the faculty of Southeast Missouri State College, will discuss the evaluation of handicapped children, and Warren Hearnes, state representative from Mississippi county, will discuss the legislation passed in the 69th General Assembly, establishing public school programs for all handicapped children. Mrs. Ownbey will moderate the panel, and will also speak as a parent of a handicapped child.

Mrs. Ruth Scott, county welfare director of Scott county, is in charge of registration for the meeting. Reservations may be made by mail through Mrs. Scott at 101 North Stoddard, Sikeston, or by telephone—GRanite 1-1781.

"The Missouri Association for Social Welfare—MASW—is a statewide, educational organization with members from every section of the state and from all walks of life," Mrs. Ownbey said in announcing the meeting, "and the problems of our handicapped children is only one phase of its program."

The Southeast Division is one of ten geographical divisions of the state carrying out the MASW program at the local level. Mrs. Joe Welborn of Bloomfield serves the Division as its Chairman. Counties comprising the division are: Bollinger, Butler, Cape Girardeau, Carter, Dunklin, Howell, Iron, Madison, Mississippi, New Madrid, Oregon, Pemiscot, Perry, Reynolds, Ripley, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Scott, Shannon, Stoddard and Wayne.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

I say unto you. Among those that are born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist. (Luke 7:28)

PRAYER: Dear Father, when we see the success of others, remove from us all traces of envy and jealousy. May we be willing to decrease in order that Thy name may be praised and Thy will done. In the spirit of Christ we pray. Amen.

NOW NATO WANTS TO GET INTO ACT AND SEND UP A SPACE SATELLITE

PARIS (AP) — A committee of legislators proposed today that NATO launch an earth satellite for peaceful outer space research by 1960.

The satellite, which would bear the emblem of the North Atlantic Alliance, is the first point in a proposed program of "peaceful scientific and technical cooperation in upper atmosphere and outer space research, development and exploration."

The program was recommended by the Scientific and Technical Committee of the fourth NATO Parliamentarians' Conference, which opened a week-long session in Paris.

Jones To Try Again to Get Cotton Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Paul C. Jones (D-Mo) plans to try again to get his legislative proposals on cotton through Congress.

Jones told a reporter the legislation received considerable support from agricultural groups and he believed the principle was a good one.

He expects, however, before reintroducing the bill to confer with interested parties to determine whether some changes might be made which would make it less objectionable to opponents.

The secretary of agriculture opposed legislation Jones introduced in 1957 on the grounds that the cost would be high. Congress took no final action on the proposal.

As intrduced by Jnes in mid-1957, the legislatin would establish a marketing quota for cotton at not less than the number of bales equalling the estimated domestic consumption and exports.

The price support would be near the world price. Farmers would be paid a marketing equalization payment on the per cent of cotton that went into domestic consumption amounting to the difference between what the farmer received and 90 per cent of parity.

Jones, re-elected to another term in the House, was in Washington for a few days after the recent election, taking care of some congressional business. He has returned to Missouri and plans later to attend a meeting of the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Assn., in New Orleans, Nov. 20-21. Jones is first vice president of the organization.

East Germans Let American Out of Jail

BONN, Germany (AP)—A young American tourist jailed for a month in East Germany on spy charges said today the Communists apparently decided to free him on realizing they could not win any diplomatic advantage by holding him.

George S. Milroy of Ann Arbor, Mich., was released Saturday after being arrested Oct. 17 on charges of taking a photograph of a Soviet headquarters in East Germany.

Milroy said he was not manhandled by his captors but was put under terrific psychological pressure in an unsuccessful attempt to force him to confess.

Milroy told a news conference here that a girl interpreter betrayed the Communist motives when she said: "Through you we will get the United States to recognize the DDR (East Germany)."

He kept demanding to be put in touch with U. S. consular authorities but was always told "your consul won't speak to us."

Milroy was seized near Neustrelitz, 70 miles north of Berlin, while driving to West Berlin from Copenhagen.

Milroy, a bachelor salesman who lives with his father in Ann Arbor, said the worst part of his experience was not knowing what would happen to him.

"At one time I had the feeling I was fighting for my life," he said. He had been interrogated day after day until there didn't seem to be anything they didn't know about him.

Seven Missing After Crash of U.S. Bomber

Another Cargo Plane Vanishes in Blizzard In North Colorado

SEOUL (AP) — Seven U. S. Air Force men today were reported missing after the crash of a B66C jet reconnaissance bomber on the west coast of South Korea.

An Air Force spokesman said the plane crashed Saturday night about 130 miles south of Seoul with six officers and one enlisted man aboard.

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—A C46 cargo plane with two crewmen aboard vanished in a northern Colorado blizzard Sunday morning.

The pilot, F. L. Courtell of Hayward, Calif., radioed that one of the plane's two engines had failed. Courtell said he would turn back to Denver from where the plane had departed for Hill Air Force Base, Utah. It wasn't heard from again.

Steady snowfall and heavy fog hindered searchers.

Courtell's copilot was identified as Calvin Cloud of Napa, Calif.

The plane, owned by Capitol Airways of Nashville, Tenn., was under contract to the Air Force.

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP)—Are two Air Force officers who bailed out of a crippled cargo plane still alive after more than three days in the blizzard ravaged mountains of northeastern Utah?

Hopes for the survival of Capt. Donald Liggett, 40, Indianapolis, Ind., navigator, and Lt. Donald E. Born, 28, Andover, N.Y., pilot, were dim as the frigid dawn this morning.

Born, Liggett and six other men parachuted from a C119 Friday night when one of its two engines stopped on a flight over the rugged mountains about 30 miles east of here. The plane was en route to its home base here.

Sgt. Ivan Probasco, 31, Buhl, Idaho, and Sgt. Joseph A. Reagan, Nellis AFB, Nev., died Saturday from exhaustion and exposure as they tried to fight their way through waist deep snow and freezing temperatures to help.

A group of the more than 100 weary rescuers combing the desolate mountain area Saturday found Sgt. Reyno Feltner, 36, Hazard, Ky., Sgt. Walter P. Bigelow, 28, from nearby Ogden, and Cpl. Ray Copeland, 22, Entiatt, Wash. when they stumbled into a sheepherder's camp.

Copeland and Feltner, both Army men and Reagan were hitchhiking a ride on the C119 when the plane commander, Capt. Harry O. Blount, 33, Great Falls, Mont., ordered them to jump. The plane flew 150 miles on automatic pilot and crashed.

Reagan died the next day in Feltner's arms. Feltner said he was quietly preparing his own death bed in the snow when a search party found him. Blount was found a few hours after the parachute jump. He was wrapped in his chute and huddled under a tree.

ANYBODY WANT A PUP? YOU CAN GET ONE FREE BY JUST ASKING FOR IT

There are three pups, Heinz variety, with some Cocker Spaniel mixed in, that are just sitting around wagging their tails and waiting for somebody to come by and claim them.

If your youngsters want a pup for their very own and you have felt you couldn't afford to buy one, here's your chance.

Just drive over to the second house east of Miner Feed Mill on Highway 60 East and, if you're not too late and somebody else hasn't beat you to it, you can get a pup free for the asking.

LONDON (AP) — As from now, you can count Alf Smith out of the do-it-yourself brigade.

Alf, 32, a pipefitter, started to paper the kitchen of his suburban home Sunday. First he had to strip the walls.

Off with the old paper came a little bit of plaster.

Then the chimney toppled into the back yard.

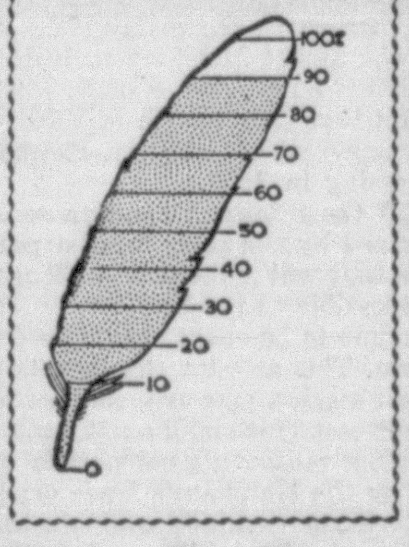
The roof fell in.

Part of the wall fell out.

The door dropped off.

Alf ran to cover, then called the professionals.

THE RED FEATHER AS IT IS TODAY



Pope To Name Two Americans As Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today called a pre-Christmas consistory for Dec. 15 to create 23 new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church, including two from the United States.

The two U.S. cardinals-designate are Msgr. Richard James Cushing, 63, archbishop of Boston, and Msgr. John F. O'Hara, 70, archbishop of Philadelphia.

Amleto Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States who is stationed in Washington, D.C., also was nominated to be a prince of the church.

The Vatican said the present members of the College of Cardinals would meet in secret consistory Dec. 15 to confirm the Pope's nominations. The pontiff will present the red hats of their rank to the new cardinals in a private ceremony Dec. 17, and a public consistory honoring them will be held Dec. 18. Ten of them are non-Italians.

The consistory, first of Pope John's reign, will increase the membership of the College of Cardinals for the first time in almost four centuries, from 70 to 75. The present 70-member college, a complement established by Pope Sixtus V, has 18 vacancies.

Francis Spellman of New York and James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles are the present American cardinals.

POLICE HAVE A BUSY WEEKEND; TEN VISIT PRAIRIE STREET JAIL

The third weekend of this month was a busy one for the city police as ten persons paid visits to the local lock-up.

Clyde Melton Young, Blodgett, posted a $15 bond to appear on a careless and reckless driving charge. James Franklin Graves, St. Louis, this morning was being held on a charge of petty larceny. Jerry Leo Hornback, 217 Mill Row, posted a $25 bond to appear on a charge of disturbing the peace by fighting. Joe Ellison, Rt. 3, Sikeston, posted a $75 bond to appear on a charge of careless and reckless driving. Clarence Russell Roe of Conran and C. T. Lawson, Evansville, Ind., posted $15 bonds to appear on careless and reckless driving charges. William Melvin Chadd, 308 W. Gladys, was turned over to Sheriff John Dennis on charges of careless and reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Marion Edgar Ryan, 110 Myers, was charged with disturbing the peace by fighting and posted a $15 bond to appear. Dewey Neal, 525 Sikes, was picked up and turned over to the sheriff of Cape county. Jimmy Dale Grimes, 518 Smith, posted a $25 bond to appear on a charge of discharging firearms inside the city limits.

Seven emergency cases were reported by the Missouri Delta Community Hospital over the weekend. All were either caused by minor falls or by cuts by metal.

Florence Shelly, 61, Sikeston, was treated for a fractured left wrist; William Cantrell, 60, Sikeston, for cuts of the right hand; Marilyn Bowman, 4, Sikeston, for cuts of the scalp; Beulah Shell, 61, Vanduser, for contusions and abrasions of the nose; James Long, Jr., 2, Gray Ridge, for cuts of the left ring finger; Vickie Bailey, 3, of Sikeston, for cuts of the scalp, and Darla McGee, 11 months, Sikeston for cuts of the eyebrow. All were dismissed after treatment.

Head of Army Seizes Power In Coup d'etat

New Ruler Will Seek Good Relations with Nasser Government

CAIRO (AP)—The Sudan radio announced today that the Sudanese army commander in chief, Gen. Ibrahim Abboud, had seized power in a coup d'etat.

The government radio in Khartoum, the Sudanese capitol, broadcast a declaration in the name of Abboud promising to do his best to achieve good relations with President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Abboud also ordered immediate dissolution of all political parties, supervision of all newspapers, and prohibition of any demonstrations or political meetings.

The general seized power from the pro-Western government of Prime Minister Abdullah Khalil.

The overthrow of the Khalil regime came as Nasser and the Sudanese government were trying to patch up long-standing differences over division of the Nile waters, their frontiers, and trade matters.

The Cairo press today carried predictions that Khalil would arrive in Cairo Thursday at the head of a delegation for official talks to settle these differences. Both Egyptian and Sudanese sources in Cairo were predicting success for the talks.

Whether Abboud's coup would help or hinder an agreement could not be determined immediately.

The Sudanese Parliament was scheduled to meet later this month and both sides had expressed hope that an agreement would be ready for ratification by that time.

Abboud's military coup upset one of the few parliamentary democracies left in the Middle East. Sudan obtained independence from joint British-Egyptian control Jan. 1, 1956, and since then had maintained a parliamentary system. The government had sided consistently with the West and frequently had been embroiled in disputes with Nasser's regime.

Fifteen Want School Board Memberships

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—In three weeks Little Rock voters will have another opportunity to express sentiment on school integration. They will choose among 15 candidates seeking school board membership, a somewhat dubious honor here.

In recent balloting, Little Rock voters have preferrd segrgation and closd public schools, to integration and open schools, and a staunch segregationist as congressman, to a veteran lawmaker with moderate racial views.

There is no indication that any candidate for the six non-salaried school board jobs will run on an integration platform. The issues probably will be segregation at any cost versus maintenance of public schools even at the cost of integration.

Last week, a dramatic mass resignation opened all six school board positions to the regular Dec. 6 school election. Five members walked out. The sixth, Dr. Dale Alford, will leave to enter Congress as a general election write-in victor over Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark).

In pulling free of the federal-state vise in which the school board has been caught since September 1957, the resigning members noted that their successors still would be faced with federal court rulings commanding integration.

The new board also will have to try to reconcile the federal courts' uncompromising attitude and Gov. Orval E. Faubus' unyielding anti-integration stand, which led to the closing of Little Rock's four public high schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, Ark., said Sunday he would "proceed in an orderly

PLAN FOR 1959 ADVERTISING NOW

Most retail merchants are now asking, "1959, What?"

To a large degree what happens in 1959 is determined by the plans the merchant makes now for business during the coming year.

Planned advertising can be a big factor in reaching a sales goal next year. Planned advertising enables a merchant to control his publicity expenses to the penny if he so chooses. Planned advertising can assure him that each item gets proper sales support. Not too much, or too little. Planned advertising will assure him that each month in 1959 he will receive exactly the correct amount of publicity. Planned advertising will eliminate guessing in 1959.

To plan advertising for 1959 the retailer will set a sales goal. This goal will be determined by the sales for the past year or two, plus a percentage that will make it a challenge, but not a goal that will be impossible to reach.

To plan advertising, the amount to be spent should be determined before the year starts. This amount can be established as a per cent of last year's sales, or a percentagee of the new sales goal, or a per unit cost (for small manufacturers). To divide the budget among media, a good plan is to follow the percentages issued by the Merchant's trade organization, follow department stores, or carefully evaluate the advertising job done last year, always asking and knowing if the largest number of people were reached at the smallest possible cost. Most department stores set from 70 to 85 per cent of their annual budget in newspapers.

To plan advertising it should be decided what to promote each month and each week during the year. The percentage of the month's advertising budget to be used on any item can be found in the sales figures for that month. The advertising should closely follow the customer buying pattern or sales curve for each item.

To plan advertising, the month to month, or week to week expenditure for advertising should be determined. Again, the sales curve for each month supplies the pattern. When customers are buying it is the time to ask for business through newspaper advertising. This assures more sales, higher profits, and less mark downs.

To plan advertising, all the above facts should be written down, studied and the entire year's schedule arranged. It is desirable to have a column for emergencies containing a certain amount to take care of unforseen selling opportunities.

With an advertising plan worked out on paper, the merchant knows where he is going in 1959. He knows that certain items are not going to be under advertised and others over promoted. He knows that certain seasons or events will not get too much promotion to the detriment of other seasons.

With his 1959 retail advertising mapped out in advance, the retailer knows he is going to get the best results from his advertising and he isn't going to be "talked into" buying something he doesn't need during the coming year.

The time is again here to brush up on a few pointers on how to be nice to your customers.

People don't believe much in saving for bad weather because the weather bureau doesn't always provide accurate forecasts.

Have car, will travel—regardless of the weather!

That probably comes close to describing the philosophy of many of the millions of Americans who drive cars.

In summer, their driving job is fairly easy — roads are free of such hazards as snow and ice, windshields usually are clear, and it's light during all of the morning and evening rush hours when workers are on their way to or from office or factory.

In winter, though, things are a whole lot different behind the wheel, according to the National Safety Council. And many motorists, lulled into confidence by a summer free of ice and snow, may find themselves unprepared these next few weeks for the added danger of winter driving.

Not you we're talking about, you say?

Well, maybe not. Maybe you are up on the finer points of winter driving. If so, you probably know the answers to such questions as:

1. If my car starts to skid on glare ice, what should I do? (Keep your foot off the brake and steer in the direction of the skid.)

2. Is there any way to stop quickly on icy pavement? (No—but a fast pumping of brakes will stop you the quickkest and let you keep control.)

3. How fast should I drive in winter? (That depends—remember it takes you 12 times as far to stop.)

If you weren't sure of all the answers, you're perfectly normal, according to the Council.

"Many drivers," it says, "are a little confused about what to do on winter roads.

"The time to learn the answers is not when you're in a jam—it's right now, before winter descends in all its fury."

The Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards, which has made on the spot studies of how to go on ice and snow, gives these six tips to motorists:

1. Winterize your driving techniques and your determination to avoid accidents, as well as your car.

2. Make sure your car has good tires—preferably snow tires—and use reinforced tire chains for more severe conditions Even with the help of snow tires or tire chains, slower-than normal speeds are a must on snow and ice.

3. Keep windshield and windows clear. Make sure your wiper blades, heater and defroster are working properly. While your car's warming up in the morning, take a couple of minutes to clear all the windows—including the rear window—of snow and ice.

4. When you're out on the road—but away from traffic—try your brakes gently to get the feel of the road.

5. Don't follow other vehicles too closely. Remember, it takes up to 12 times further to stop your car on ice and snow as it does on dry pavement.

6. Best technique for stopping on winter roads—and still keep control of your car—is a fast up-and-down pumping of your brakes.

"Memorize and learn to use these six winter driving tips," the Council says. "We'll guarantee you a safer, more comfortable ride this winter.

"There's not much you can do about the weather—except be ready for it!"

NOW IS THE TIME
FOR ALL GOOD BANKS

Now that the plan conceived by some large banks in St. Louis to "improve" banking service in the state has been soundly defeated, perhaps it would be well for Missourians to consider a plan or plans which can be realistic enough to provide essential banking services where they are needed.

Missourians who voted for Proposition No. 3 this past Tuesday did so for a variety of reasons. But perhaps the greatest motivation in Southeast Missouri was the thought that the proposal would provide banking services in communities which now do not have them. Voting at Holcomb, Clarkton ,Gibson and White Oak in Dunklin County, for example, indicated that persons in that area desire closer conveniences for cashing of checks and deposit service. That communities which do not have these services would secure them under the plan submitted by St. Louis bankers was fanciful, but the vote would indicate that many persons were willing to vote for any proposition which even half-way promised they would not be inconvenienced every time they needed some banking services.

Under the plan submitted to the voters this week, the large banks of St. Louis were not even remotely studying the possibility of providing branches in the so-called 700 communities which now do not have banks. In the first place, many of these communities could not support even the lowest - cost type of banking service; and the for-branch-banking group used extremes in arriving at the 700 number. They included hamlets with a filling station anda churchschool as communities lacking bank facilities.

Branch banking, as designed by the authors of Tuesday's proposal, was an admission that communities such as Holcomb and Clarkton could not support their own banks, and were forced to rely on adjuncts of larger banks in larger towns. Now that the election is over, perhaps thought can be given to revising existing bank laws of Missouri in order that communities not now served by banks can secure so - called currency exchanges, or small communities can organize by areas and establish their own banks. This would certainly provide the competition which is needed in banking, and, even more important, it would prevent the financial giants of the metropolitan cities from obtaining a strangle-hold on outstate institutions.

We hope that Missouri's bankers will awaken to the needs to provide even better services in the years ahead after Tuesday's balloting. The banks in our city could be used as an example of how home - owned and home - operated institutions serve their community, for most certainly, our local banks provide maximum services for a city this size.

But there are other banks, some of them in Southeast Missouri, which make few loans to local residents, which provide only the barest of services, which make little contribution to the growth of their home towns. That these banks should consider Tuesday's vote as a vote of confidence is absurd.

We hope that the Missouri Bankers Association and bankers throughout the state will now be determined to provide services to communities which do not have them by altering some of the present banking regulations, and we trust that others, who offer little arrange their thinking to give our state's residents the finest banking services possible anywhere.

This is the real need of Missouri's banking industry. - Daily Dunklin Democrat

"THINK IT THROUGH"

By E. F. HUTTON

REPORT TO THE NATION

Good reading, ladies and gents. It's about oil—and without it, we'd be stuck in the mud.

The American Petroleum Institute has recently completed a roundup, called Oil Progress Week. A listing of its achievements covers 21 mimeographed pages.

The celebrations took in motion picture films, club programs school activities, visits to refineries, dances, fashion shows (the gals liked them), and prizes. It featured safety driving, which calls to mind a small boy who said: "Dad, let ma drive; it's more exciting!"

The oil people put their program and performance before the public. The story was worth telling. It's what the Oil Industry has done, and plans to do for all of us.

Oil has changed the face of the nation. On the average, every American consumes more than two gallons of oil products each day, more for heat than transportation. And in the near future, the two gallons will jump by 50 per cent to three gallons, per person per day.

Per ton-mile of transportation, oil costs less than it did in 1930. Tell that to Ripley!

In the next six years, the industry will have to spend 80 billion bucks in new plants, equipment and physical facilities of all kinds. These facts give a boost to Oil Progress Week's slogan, "Today—Oil Builds for Your Tomorrow."

All this can be K.O.'d by left-wingers in the next Congress.

Worry Clinic

DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Why did Mitch Miller's arrangement of "Little Sandy Sleighfoot" outrank Bing Crosby's "White Christmas" and "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer"? What makes a song "hit"? And why do some tunes make you cry while others stimulate patriotism or romance? Scrapbook this case and the follow - up tomorrow.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Z — 373: Ellen M., aged 27, is a music teacher in the Chicago public schools.

"Dr. Crane, what makes music popular?" she asked at a teachers' meeting which I recently addressed.

"For example, some new songs will become 'hits' almost over night and then disappear from memory in a few months.

"Others may carry on forgonerations. And it apparently isn't due to the intricate melody or arrangements so what do you think a composer should keep in mind if he wants to have a permanent song hit?"

Music Psychology

The lyrics (words) are often vital to the success of a new tune, for they can speed up the creation of the desired mood.

For example, Bing Crosby's "White Christmas" is slanted toward adults who have nostalgia for their childhood.

That beautiful song thus carries them backward through the years to their youth. It is comparable in this respect to the song "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia".

Contrast "White Christmas" with "Little Sandy Sleighfoot" or "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer".

Both of the latter are slanted toward children. And they contain dramatic conflict. For Sandy Sleighfoot is a handicapped youngster with such excessively long feet that the other children ridicule him.

Rudolph, too, was also mocked and ostracized. So when Sandy and Rudolph both meet a crisis successfully, they zoom from the under dog role to that of the winning hero.

This is the Horatio Alger theme, adapted to music, and shows the great importance of the proper lyrics in creating melodic drama.

Calendar "Hooks"

All three of these songs are also "hooked" upon a definite calendar event, such as Christmas, and that helps produce longer popularity for any song, since it brings it back at periodic intervals.

Sandy Sleighfoot, moreover, is superior to the other two in the fact that it retains the basic religious theme of Christmas, whereas the others are purely secular. They don't refer to Christ or Bethlehem or the true Christmas spirit.

Some songs also have a patriotic "hook" often combined with a geographical "hook".

Thus, "Deep in the Heart of Texas", "On the Banks of the Wabash", "Beautiful Ohio", "Dixie", and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" create nostalgia for one's birthplace, if he comes from any of those regions.

The French Marseillaise, and our "Battle Hymn of the Republic", plus "America, the Beautiful" are hooked to emotional situations like military parades, war and Memorial Day.

Music usually gains its primary emotional value depending on how we were feeling when we first hear it. If certain tunes are encountered at funerals, they may finally create a sad, tearful mood.

If they were first contacted at dances, parties and romantic periods of our youth, then they rearouse these same emotions, even when we are 60.

In similar fashion, carnations used to be employed so routinely at funerals that people finally refused to use them in party corsages. For the past 25 years, they were almost out of style except for funeral wreaths.

Music likewise can become "conditioned" to social customs. Some of the famous religious tunes were originally barroom ballads which were taken by church leaders and set to Christian lyrics. Now our present generations link them solely with the church.

See tomorrow's follow - up and consult my college textbook "Psychology Applied" at your local library, for it contains an entire chapter on the "Psychology of Music".

Inside Labor

By VICTOR RIESEL

Certainly Walter Reuther became one of the most controversial issues of this past dramatic campaign. There was national discussion of his union's political activities. Here, drawn from the pages of his own publication distributed in labor circles, is the first detailed report on the inner workings of the Auto Union's Political Action Dept.)

Walter Reuther and his aides in the Auto Union's ultra-modern political action Dept. backing candidate with a gray flannel tongue. Using techniques which outmode even Madison Ave.'s super pulse-taking methods, the union's political units test each political hopeful for "indolence" and "vocal ability" as well as voting record. Hundreds of candidates, seeking the union's support, are put through what Reuther's own publicists call the "office grinder."

"Altogether it is a helluva obstacle course for any candidate who wants labor's endorsement," bluntly asserted the official post-election report of the Auto Union to its membership.

This referred to the special Auto Union precinct committees which interview every candidate seeking labor's endorsement—and the nominee's "personal habits" are not above inquiry."

This report reveals it isn't easy to get into the coffee grinder, either. Before a local, state or congressional candidate can get into the waiting room of the union's interviewing boards, the politico must fill out a long and "rigorous" questionnaire.

It is a complete personal history. It asks for his political activity in "minute detail." What does he think of taxes, civil rights social welfare, labor laws, industrial agricultural rural urban economic developments, public education, election laws and legislative apportionment? What are his ideas on how a successful candidate should conduct himself?

The interviewing is handled by a special "steering committee." In this directing group is the strength of the political activity led by Walter Reuther and the Auto Union's high command. Follow this from the street level up to the point where they find a candidate above vice and vocal in low decibels.

The report states that the Political Action Dept. ties together seven to 10 precincts into one "zone." Each "zone" has a chairman elected by the precinct workers. Then some 30 zone chairmen band together. They make up the executive or steering committee of the union's congressional district organization. These are the men who actually interview the candidates of the major political parties.

Once the candidates are endorsed, the issues must be found by the steering committee and their block workers. No mass opinion-seeker ever polled a district more carefully. The report says: "They (the campaign workers) must find out what issues are of particular concern to each citizen.

"They are even expected to ferret out particular neighborhood gripes and then apply a little community service — nagging the city for another street light on the dim corner near an elderly woman's home or agitating for playground improvements in a neighborhood with a heavy population of children."

There are plenty of workers for these chores — since the union, working with the party, generally the Democrats — supplies two special workers for each precinct. All this is coordinated. Usually the committee headquarters is in an empty store, hired a few weeks before election day. The effectiveness of these street level command posts is best told in the words of the report from "Solidarity," the union's publication:

"Hub of activity, of course, is the district headquarters. . .Here the precinct worker comes to get his literature, exchange information with his brother doorbell ringers, discuss the day's news and its effect on issues and voters' interests, make his reports, meet a candidate who may have sauntered in to find out how he's doing in the district."

Here, behind windows plastered with big campaign posters, street rallies are planned. Techniques to arouse voter interest are traded. Here the precinct worker is told what "there is about a certain candidate that is causing uncertainty in the voter's mind." The candidate comes in for briefing on what to talk about in his next campaign rally speech. He learns what issues he must "press harder."

Finally, says the report, "Arrangements are made on election day to haul to the polls those who can't go or would neglect to go." Apparently it works!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A lot of duck-shooters, who have often shivered all day in the blinds waiting to bag a couple of ducks, wondered with jealous envy how the President was able to bag the day's legal limit near Toledo in only 90 minutes.

They suspected that the blinds were baited, which is against the law. Hunters were especially suspicious because they remembered the furor kicked up by Sen. John Bricker of Ohio when some of his friends were arrested in the same area for baiting the blinds. "Baiting" duck blinds consists of scattering grain on the water outside of a blind in order to attract the ducks, and, in 1955, U.S. Judge Ralph U. Freeman gave one of the stiffest duck sentences in history to one of Bricker's friends, Maurice Kocher of Toledo, for baiting blinds. Kocher got a $500 fine, a six months' suspended sentence, and two years on probation.

It was largely as a result of Bricker's objection to the migratory game treaty with Canada that he introduced the Bricker amendment to the Constitution which would have overridden the President's power to make treaties without the approval of the 48 states. Bricker wanted Ohio to have its own duck treaty with Canada.

So the spot where Ike bagged his legal limit in such a short time is one of the most controversial duck areas in the USA. Hence the suspicions.

However, this column has checked into the facts and is convinced that Ike violated no rules or laws, that no duck blinds were baited. What the Toledo Cedar Point Club did, however, was to bar all hunters from the best marshes for about a week before the President shot. Thus the ducks got accustomed to feeding there. This was why Ike was able to bag the limit in 90 minutes on Friday, and in two hours and 15 minutes the next Saturday morning.

–Battle To Watch–

The most dramatic moment of the Chicago 1952 Republican convention which nominated Eisenhower for President was a speech by Sen. Everett Dirksen, Illinois Republican, blasting Gov. Tom Dewey, two-time GOP nominee for President.

"Do not take us down the trail to destruction again," proclaimed the stentorian senator from Illinois in urging that the Republicans not follow Dewey's lead and nominate Eisenhower.

The Dirksen blast was the most vehement perhaps ever delivered publicly against a high Republican by another Republican.

Six years have passed, and the political wheel of fate has swung around to point the finger once again on hulking Senator Dirksen and the diminutive Tom Dewey. This time Dirksen seeks to become Republican leader of the Senate, replacing Bill Knowland of California. This time Dewey, retired from public office but still active behind the scenes, may have the power to block him.

Dewey now has four of his own senators in the U.S. senate. And they are leading the backstage move to defeat Dirksen as Senate GOP leader. The four in the Dewey stable are: Jacob Javits of New York and Ken Keating, the newly elected Republican from New York; Clifford Case of New Jersey, and Hugh Scott, newly elected from Philadelphia and onetime campaign manager for Dewey.

The battle against Dirksen, however, goes much deeper than any feud with Dewey. It goes to the basic question of whether the Republican Party will, under Rockefeller, be liberal or conservative, cling to the old Taft crowd or with the old Teddy Roosevelt wing. It also goes to the basic question of whether the tired old Republican elephant needs an injection of new blood.

–Important Battle–

The young turk Republican liberals include some excellent men—Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, Tom Kuchel of California, Lev Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Frank Carlson of Kansas.

But the old guard Republicans have seniority, prestige, and the power of encrusted rank. They include Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, Barry Goldwater of Arizona. Their ranks have been depleted by the exit of such old-timers as Bricker of Ohio, Malone of Nevada, Jenner of Indiana. But they are still strong and they are not anxious to bow to the young turk liberals.

So the battle may become just as important as the split between northern and southern Democrats.

Significantly, Vice President Nixon has thrown his weight behind the young turks. This is surprising, because most of them are Rockefeller men, and the GOP battle of the next two years is expected to be between Nixon and Rockefeller over who gets the 1960 Presidential nomination. Despite this, Nixon, holding a series of private post-mortems over the election defeat, has made it clear that the GOP elephant needs young blood.

He demands that the young turks must at least have good committee assignments. Young Democratic Senators, he has pointed out, received excellent committee posts from Sen. Lyndon Johnson, and young Republicans must get the same break. They must not be shunted to minor committee jobs as in the past.

This does not solve the question of who will lead the Senate Republicans. But it indicates the way the wind is blowing in a backstage battle which may make fireworks when it gets out in the open.

Mrs. John Lathom Guest Speaker For Coalesce Club

The Coalesce Club held their November meeting in the Home Economics Cottage with students of Mrs. Wm. Sapp serving refreshments of cake and coffee.

The cottage was attractively decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, marigolds and yellow tapers. Mrs. Sapp presented six girls who participated in the "Make It With Wool Contest" as they gave a style show of the garments they made. Taking part were Diana Bird, Sharon Greer, Linda Parker, Clara Scott, Shirley Adams and Lyn Farris.

Mrs. John Lathom was guest speaker, using as her topic "Complexion Care and Cosmetics." She demonstrated the correct way to give a facial and to apply cosmetics.

During a short business session conducted by the president, Mrs. R. B. Bennett, she thanked the members for help rendered during the annual Hallowe'en painting contest sponsored by the club.

One new member was voted into the club, Mrs. Ralph Boyer, and two guests were present, Mrs. Bob Reding and Mrs. Betty Mansker. (

Mrs. Doyne Chartrau Elected Worthy Matron Of Eastern Star

Election of officers for the coming year was the highlight of the meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star Thursday evening. Those elected were: Mrs. Doyne Chartrau, Worthy Matron; Gene Collins, Worthy Patrol; Mrs. Bill Eaton, Associate Matron; Arvil Nickell, Associate Patrol; Mrs. Steve Humphreys, Secretary; Mrs. Arvil Nickell, Treasurer; Mrs. Elbert Sloan, Conductress, and Mrs. Elzie Pollard, Associate Conductress. Other officers will be appointed by the incoming matron and announced at a later date.

At the request of Mrs. Chartrau, the chapter voted to have public installation ceremonies on Friday night, Dec. 19, at 7:30.

Mrs. Laura Bosse, St. Louis, was a guest at the meeting and was welcomed by the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, Mrs. Lowell Webb and C. T. Howard.

Mrs. M. L. Canedy announced that Mrs. A. P. Sargent has accepted the position of Guardian of the Job's Daughters organization.

Mrs. Webb thanked Mrs. Clarence Bailey, Mrs. Elmer Childress and Mrs. Arvil Nickell for serving in offices for the evening.

A social hour was enjoyed in the dining room following the business meeting, and refreshments were served by Mrs. C. T. Howard, Mrs. Charles Conn, Mrs. C. D. Springs, Mrs. Melfred Taylor, Mrs. Aubrey Shain, Mrs. Webb and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Underhill.

The tables were attractive with cornucopias overflowing with fall foliage, fruits and vegetables. Other arrangements in large vases completed the November theme.

At the next meeting, Dec. 11, the sunshine friends of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron will be revealed, and Mrs. Webb will honor the officers and drill team members.

Mrs. Ruby Smith Makes Inspections Of District V.F.W. Auxiliaries

Mrs. Ruby Smith, 15th District President of the V.F.W. Auxiliary, has completed more of the inspections in the district. Kennett welcomed Mrs. Smith at the Post Home in Hayti with a short meeting and report of the Auxiliary. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Norma DeVaull presided during the meeting.

Poplar Bluff Auxiliary welcomed Mrs. Smith at a meeting in the home of the State Hospital Chairman, Mrs. Lucille Clifton. The meeting was presided over by the assistant hospital chairman of the state department, Mrs. Gladys Heaton. Reports were given from the Auxiliary and the books inspected were found in order. Following the meeting a social hour was held with the guest, Mrs. Smith being presented a gift for her official visit. District hospital chairman, Mrs. Geneva Massey, accompanied the president and the color guards, Mrs. Leslie Rister and Mrs. Walter Rayburn.

The Charleston Auxiliary were hostesses to a barbecue chicken dinner for the district president and her guests, Mrs. Leslie Rister, Mrs. Walter Rayburn and Mrs. Myrtle Comstock. The inspection was held by Mrs. Smith at the Post Home. Following dinner, the meeting was opened by the president of the Charleston Auxiliary, Mrs. Ann Collier from Bertrand. During a social hour, the hostess Auxiliary presented the District President with a gift of appreciation.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY HINTS

In this column each day you will find holiday ideas given by local women.

By Mrs. Fay Albritton

A hint on how to decorate your living room fireplace mantle for the Thanksgiving holiday would be to completely cover the mantle with Magnolia leaves painted pink and each leaf edged with bronze paint.

Center these leaves with an oblong arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums in a container extended on a 4-inch base. Accent the arrangement with six tall pink tapers and entwine bronze frosted grapes and fruit at each end of the arrangement into the Magnolia leaves.

To carry out your pink and bronze theme in the rest of your living room would be easy with gaily decorated ash trays and large glass bottles of the matching colors.

Mrs. Mattie Jackson visited Saturday with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jackson, of Cape Girardeau.

Indians Are Tied In Last Game Of Year

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Finishing their 1958 football season before local fans Saturday night, the Cape College Indians fought the St. Ambrose Bees of Davenport, Ia., a team that boasts the nation's best small college passing quarterback, to a 27-27 tie in their non-conference game. It was a true spectator's game with the Bees leading going into the last quarter, the Indians coming on to take command then the Bees coming back in the last 11 seconds on a great pass to knot the score.

The big dramatic game - tying pass by St. Ambrose brought the partisan fans to their feet as Bill Webb rifled a long one for May in the end zone. However, a hustling Arlen Powell of the Tigers was Johnny on the spot, and grabbed the oval at the same time as did May, making it a simultaneous catch. Since all simultaneous catches go to the offense, and since both players were in the end zone, it was a touchdown for the Bees and turned the Knox boys' come-from-behind victory into a 27-27 tie.

St. Ambrose scored early in the first quarter as Gerhart scored from the 15 and Sharko converted. Then in the second frame, Ken Weakley scampered 65 yards for the TD and Gary Nichols missed the extra point to move Cape closer, 7-6.

The visitors scored again in that quarter, but missed the point after touchdown, for a 13-6 halftime advantage. Mark McGowan scored the marker for the Bees.

Shortly after the intermission, the Bees made it 20-6 as Gerhart scored again, this time from the 12, and Sharko split the uprights.

From there until the closing seconds, it was the Indians' show as they came on fast to go out in front, 27-20. Nichols started the ball rolling with a 65-yard run with touchdown written on it, and followed with an extra point for a 20-13 score. After the start of the 4th frame, Charles Matthews knotted the score with a four yard run, and Nichols booted the extra point for a 20-20 score. Moments later, Matthews put the Indians out in front with a six yard plunge and Nichols converted, making the score, 27-20, and the tribesmen appeared to be victory bound.

But, St. Ambrose had different ideas, and with a fourth down, and six yards to go situation, the ball resting on the Indians' 32-yard line and 11 second left, Webb uncorked his game tying pass.

The Rich Get Richer In Pro Cage Circuit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rich get richer; the poor get poorer.

The New York Knickerbockers sped along today with a streak of six victories in the National Basketball Assn.

But, the Cincinnati Royals were burdened by a seven game losing skein and Minneapolis lost its sixth in a row.

The Knicks have their longest string in five years after Sunday's sloppy 98-90 job against Minneapolis.

Saturday night, the Knicks knocked over Syracuse, the runnerup in the Eastern Division, 96-92; while Philadelphia spilled the Lakers 106-101, St. Louis defeated Detroit 102-91 and Boston rapped Cincinnati 130-105.

The Knicks lead by two games in the Eastern Division. St. Louis has a 2½-game spread over Detroit in the Western Division.

The Knick-Laker game had both clubs guilty of walking infractions, pushing and even kicking the ball.

The Knicks, who have won eight of nine this season, blew a 12-5 lead, scrambled for a 46-46 tie at the half, then built a 66-56 lead and almost blew that margin.

New York's Charlie Tyra was the high scorer with 22 points. Kenny Sears, the Knicks's scoring star who had averaged 24.2 points a game, needed three stitches to close an eye cut opened by Laker rookie Elgin Baylor's finger nail.

Baylor led the Lakers with 18 points.

Iowa And Ohio Resort To Old-Fashion Play In 38-28 Buckeye Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —You might say Iowa and Ohio State played good, old-fashioned football when the Buckeyes sent the Hawkeyes to their first defeat 38-28 Saturday. None of this two-point conversion stuff for them.

There were nine touchdowns in the game — and OSU's Woody Hayes and Iowa's Forest Evashevski went for the one-point placement after each. Made 'em all, too.

OSU's "extra" three points came on an 18-yard field goal by Dave Kilgore.

Oregon State and Stanford didn't play it that way. Oregon State won 24-16 and the Beavers and Injuns went for two-point conversions after each of the five TDs — and made all of them.

By latest count, there are only 15 unbeaten, untied teams in college football. But how about the winless clubs. To name a few efawe—Temple(0-6),Union(0-8),U — Temple (0-6), Union (0-8), Ursinus (0-7), West Texas State (0-9) and New Britain State (0-7).

Speaking of unbeaten untied teams, Sewanee made it with an 8-0 record, but Coach Shirley Majors says his Tigers aren't going to try for a return to the big-time. Once a power, Sewanee made a comeback try a few years ago in the Southeastern Conference. The Tigers spent eight years in the SEC, lost every game.

You might say Alabama upset Georgia Tech with a stone wall ard Jackson. The 'Bama line twice held Tech at the 6, once shut 'em off at the 1. And quarterback Bobby Jackson twice ran for TDs in the 17-8 surprise.

Ameche Sets The Trend For Pro Fullbacks

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Baltimore's Alan Ameche could be one of the reasons pro football fullbacks are running more like halfbacks these days.

Some critics said the former Wisconsin All - America would never make the grade in the National Football League because he ran into the line from a standup position.

"I never knew I had any critics," smiled Ameche after he had gained 142 yards rushing to lead the Colts to a 17-0 victory over the Chicago Bears. "But the concept about fullbacks has changed a lot since the old days.

"Years ago," continued Ameche who was known as The Horse before he joined the Colts, "a fullback would crouch low, take the ball and smack into the line.

"If the hole was open, he'd gain. If not, he'd be stopped. Today, a fullback is expected to veer and find another opening."

And George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, agreed with Ameche.

"The game has changed in a lot of phases since I played," said Halas. "Fullbacks like Ameche, our Rick Casares and Jim Brown of Cleveland all are capable of shaking themselves loose. They stand more erect so they can see where they are going."

Are the Colts a great team?

"I'd say a fine team," said Halas. "But they could become great in a few years. Greatness depends on what you accomplish over a period of years."

Baltimore needs to win three of its last four games to clinch the Western Division title.

Western Illinois Will Play In Mineral Bowl

MACOMB, Ill., (AP) — Western Illinois University was named yesterday as one of the teams to play in the Mineral Water Bowl game at Excelsior Springs, Mo., next Saturday afternoon.

One of two teams will be named soon as Western's opponent. The choice is between William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo., and Kearney (Neb) College.

Western defeated Central Michigan College 38-23 Saturday and won the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship with a 6-1-1 record.

Post Season Bowl Contests Now Start To Take Shape As Big Teams Clinch Positions

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The annual—and rarely successful—guessing game on what teams will play in the big bowl games New Year's Day began in earnest today.

Iowa and Oklahoma already have clinched their berths, so that narrows the field some.

Iowa, which clinched the Big 10 title more than a week ago, goes to the Rose Bowl. Oklahoma will make another trip to the Orange Bowl although it still must take care of the formalities of wrapping up its 11th straight Big 8 crown.

But even in the unlikely event that Nebraska beats the Sooners—Oklahoma hasn't lost a league game in its last 70 tries—they still head for the Orange Bowl This is because they have beaten Missouri, the only team that can possibly tie them for the championship.

Here is how the major bowl set-up looks now with two weeks left of the season.

Rose—Iowa vs. California.

Orange — Oklahoma vs. Air Force Academy.

Sugar — Louisiana State vs.

Cotton—Texas Christian vs. Mississippi or Syracuse.

Right behind is the gator bowl, waiting in the wings for any top teams that don't get in the others. Gator possibilities include Vanderbilt and Florida.

California has won 7 of its 9 games so far and has only to get past much-beaten Stanford to wrap up the Pacific Coast Conference title and the automatic Rose Bowl bid that goes with it.

The Big 8 sends a team yearly to play in the Orange Bowl. The opposition could be the Air Force Academy, which hasn't even graduated its first class yet. The AFA has been tied (by Iowa) once in 8 games. It's a new and interesting team that would be a big drawing card in a bowl game. It plays New Mexico (no problem) this week and tough Colorado next week.

Louisiana State, which had a 7-6 squeaker over Mississippi State Saturday night, need only defeat Tulane this week to win the Southwestern Conference championship. That one, although not by edicit, takes in the Sugar Bowl, too.

North Carolina still is the top choice as the second Sugar Bowl team despite its 34-24 loss to Notre Dame Saturday. The defeat snapped a 6-game Tar Heel win streak.

With Pitt's 14-6 loss to Nebraska, Syracuse appears to be about the top eligible in the East and that could earn the Orange the Sugar Bowl bid. Syracuse has lost only against West Virginia Saturday. Mississippi, twice-beaten also is a strong possibility.

Texas Christian is the Cotton Bowl choice as the host team at the moment because it is leading the Southwest Conference, a precarious spot for any team in this topsy-turvy loop. A victory over Rice, which has had its ups and downs, Saturday and TCU should be in.

Vanderbilt, beaten once and involved in three ties, is another itching bowl candidate and could wind up in the Gator against Florida. This would be a rematch. The two played a 6-6 tie during the season.

Three conference champions were crowned Saturday. West Virginia became the Southern Conference kingpin by crushing William and Mary, 56-6; Clemson sewed up the Atlantic Coast Conference by whipping North Carolina, 13-6, and Connecticut won the Yankee Conference by thrashing Rhode Island, 36-8.

Rutgers, with ace Billy Austin on the sidelines with an injury, lost to the Quantico Marines, 13-12, and that left Louisiana State the only undefeated-untied major team in the country.

Iowa and Virginia Military institute also both lost their first games of the season. Both had been tied. Ohio State clubbed Iowa, 38-28, and The Citadel, beaten four times, embarrassed VMI, 14-6.

Three major teams remain in the unbeaten-but-tied club. They are Army, Auburn and the Air Force Academy. The Cadets licked Villanova, 26-0; Auburn turned back Georgia, 21-6, and AFA licked Wyoming, also by 21-6

Second Richest Race In Country Will Be Held Saturday at Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) —The Pimlico Futurity this Saturday figures to be the nation's second richest race at the second oldest active race track.

The country's three leading jockeys will be riding in the mile and a sixteenth event for 2-year-olds, including Willie Shoemaker, the tiny Texas looking hor his fourth national championship.

If a dozen horses start, the first four finishers will haul in $172,520, and the winner would get $123,171. Jewel's Reward got $115,347 in winning it for Maine Chance Farm last year and set an all-time earnings record for juveniles.

The Garden State at Camden, N. J., also for 2-year-olds, paid $297,250 on Oct. 25.

Shoemaker has ridden 287 winners this year, against 235 for Howard Grant and 225 for Bill Hartack.

Shoemaker will be aboard intentionally, the probably favorite owned by Harry Isaacs for Baltimore.

Hartack will interrupt a Florida vacation to tide King Ranch's Black Hills. Grant will be on Briardale Farms Rico Tesio.

Huskers' Win May Have Cost Sooner Game

Now Nebraska has gone and done it, too.

Coach Bill Jnnings' Cornhuskers upset Pittsburgh 14-6 last week and that's the kind of stuff that enables Coach Bud Wilkinson to fire up his Oklahoma Sooners for a Big Eight opponent.

Oklahoma is scheduled to clinch its 11th consecutive conference title at the expense of Nebraska in Norman Saturday.

A week ago Missouri crushed Colorado, 33-9. That made the Sooners so serious in their work that they blasted Missouri 39-0 Saturday using manpower generously.

The victory over Missouri was Oklahoma's fifth in the league against no defeats and assured them of an Orange Bowl berth. Missouri (4-1) has a mathematical chance of gaining a tie with Oklahoma for the title, but that would require a Nebraska upset of the Sooners and a Missouri victory over Kansas Saturday.

The non-conference action this week will have Iowa State at San Jose State (Calif) Friday night, and Saturday Kansas State meets Michigan State in East Lansing, Mich., and Colorado will play Colorado State in Boulder.

The Kansas-Missouri game at Columbia will have wide bearing Missouri has won 4, lost 1. Colorado has completed its conference scheduled 4-2. Kansas (3-2) by winning would throw the three teams into a tie for second, third and fourth positions.

Normally salty on defense, Kansas let down long enough last Saturday to allow Larry Rundle to race 35 yards for a 6-3 Oklahoma State victory. Earlier sophomore John Suder had kicked a field goal from the 25-yard line to put Kansas ahead.

Brewster Hobby, a lightweight halfback, was the big man in Oklahoma's victory over Missouri. Hobby passed for the first and third Sooner touchdowns and scored the middle one himself as the Sooners led 20-0 going into the final period.

Nebraska, pulling its second major upset of the season, scored in the second and third quarter for a 14-point lead before Pittsburg counted in the last period.

Kansas State used sustained drives of 71 and 80 yards to beat Iowa State 14-6 before a small crowd of 6,500 in Manhattan. Iowa State's Dwight Nichols stole the show individually, running the ball almost every play, one for a 34-yard touchdown.

Colorado beat Utah 7-0 on a slushy, snow-covered field at Salt Lake City.

James Wesley Hines Funeral Held Today

Funeral services for James Wesley Hines of 840 Linn street were held this afternoon at the Albritton Funeral Home, followed by interment in Memorial Park Cemetery. The Revs. E. D. Owen and Paul Higgins of the First Baptist Church conducted the last rites.

Mr. Hines, a retired farmer of the Sikeston area, died at eleven o'clock Saturday night at the Delta Community Hospital after an illness of a heart ailment for three months. Prior to that time he had enjoyed good health practically all his long life.

Mr. Hines was born in Gallatin county, Ill., Feb. 17, 1873. He came to Missouri in 1914 and since 1937 he had resided in Sikeston. In 1903 he was married to the former Miss Mary Melissa Burchwall, who survives. To them were born seven children, a son preceding his father in death. The other six children are: Edna (Mrs. John L. Webber of Sikeston; Edith (Mrs. Clem) Haskins of Coffeyville, Kan., Robert C. Hines of Cape Girardeau; Louise (Mrs. Walter F.) Buchholz of Whitehouse, N. J., Bernice (Mrs. Harold) Skinner and Ruby (Mrs. Jack) Frink of St. Louis. There are 12 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Also surviving are two brothers and a sister, Paul Hines of Dexter, Frank Hines of Shawneetown, Ill., and Mrs. Ethel Rash of Mount Vernon, Ill. All of the children were here for the funeral services.

Mr. Hines had long been a member of the First Baptist Church of Sikeston.

Alan Moorehead, British writer and traveler:

Most Americans to whom I have talked think that their country is becoming oversold on pleasure. I don't agree. I think Americans work hard, harder than most people in Europe, and much more efficiently. I think, too, that they know, perhaps unconsciously, perhaps instinctively, that they are up against the old enigma: can you really set up a new civilization which is not based upon slavery, nor upon religion, nor upon conquest, nor upon a territorial empire? It has never been done before on a major scale in all history. But the Americans whom I met all thought they could do it, provided they worked hard enough and invented enough machines, provided they stuck together.

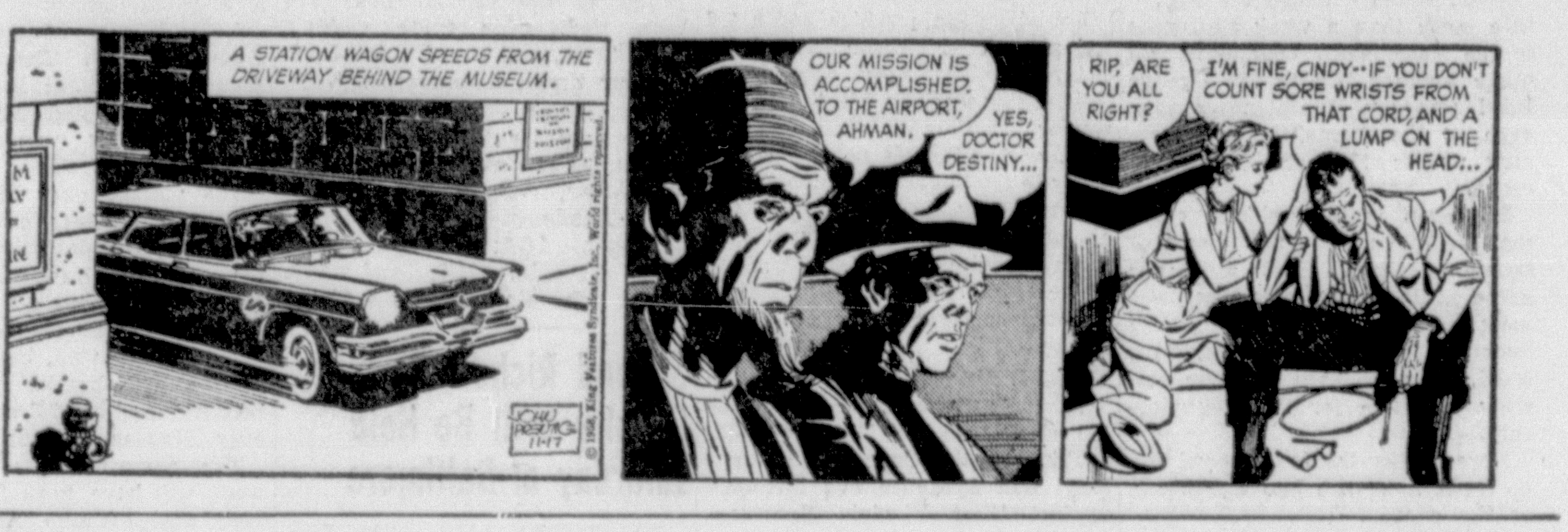
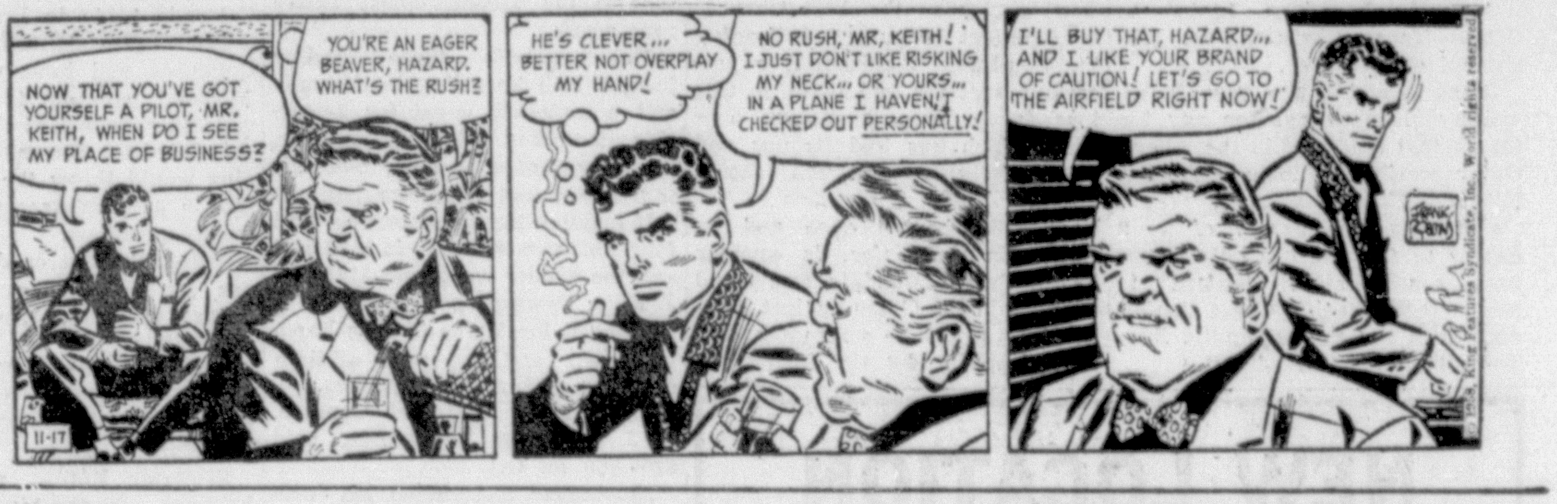
RIP KIRBY



A STATION WAGON SPEEDS FROM THE DRIVEWAY BEHIND THE MUSEUM.
OUR MISSION IS ACCOMPLISHED. TO THE AIRPORT, AHMAN.
YES, DOCTOR DESTINY...
RIP, ARE YOU ALL RIGHT?
I'M FINE, CINDY--IF YOU DON'T COUNT SORE WRISTS FROM THAT CORD, AND A LUMP ON THE HEAD...

JOHNNY HAZARD

by Frank Robbins



NOW THAT YOU'VE GOT YOURSELF A PILOT, MR. KEITH, WHEN DO I SEE MY PLACE OF BUSINESS?
YOU'RE AN EAGER BEAVER, HAZARD. WHAT'S THE RUSH?
HE'S CLEVER... BETTER NOT OVERPLAY MY HAND!
NO RUSH, MR. KEITH! I JUST DON'T LIKE RISKING MY NECK... OR YOURS... IN A PLANE I HAVEN'T CHECKED OUT PERSONALLY!
I'LL BUY THAT, HAZARD... AND I LIKE YOUR BRAND OF CAUTION! LET'S GO TO THE AIRFIELD RIGHT NOW!

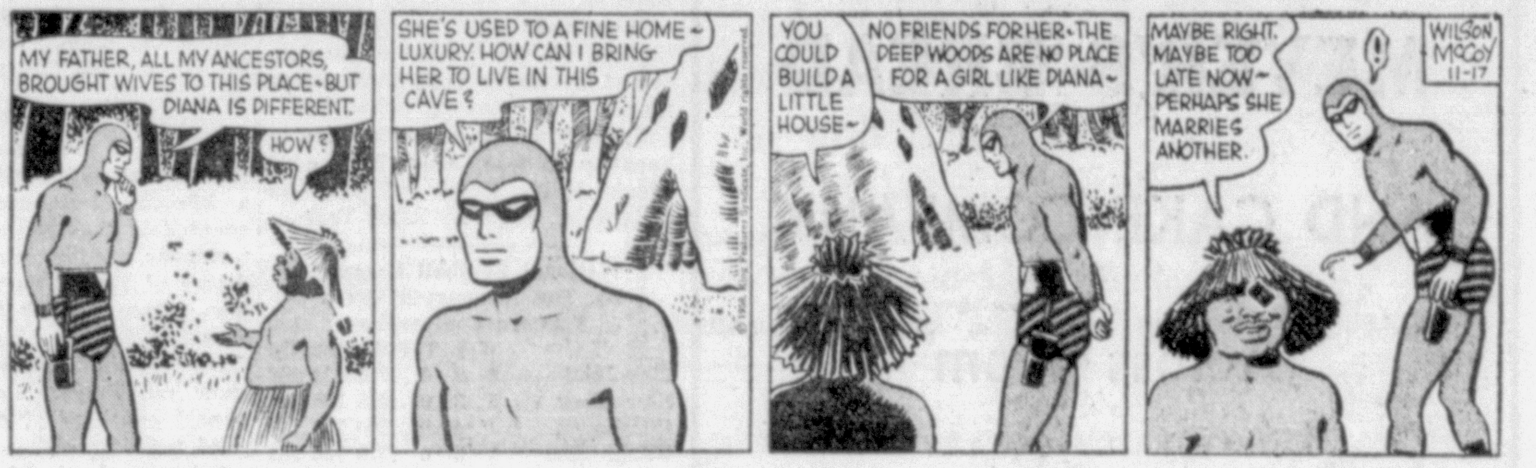
THE PHANTOM



MY FATHER, ALL MY ANCESTORS, BROUGHT WIVES TO THIS PLACE - BUT DIANA IS DIFFERENT.
HOW?
SHE'S USED TO A FINE HOME - LUXURY. HOW CAN I BRING HER TO LIVE IN THIS CAVE?
YOU COULD BUILD A LITTLE HOUSE -
NO FRIENDS FOR HER - THE DEEP WOODS ARE NO PLACE FOR A GIRL LIKE DIANA - MAYBE RIGHT. MAYBE TOO LATE NOW - PERHAPS SHE MARRIES ANOTHER.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

THE HONOR OF SIKESTON IS AT STAKE

We are suddenly faced with the stark reality that Sikeston is headed down a discouraging path, because our business, professional, employees, and civic leaders, as well as the man in the street have not, as yet, accepted a fair share of our moral and civic responsibility in supporting the welfare needs of our community.

For weeks hundreds of volunteer workers in the Sikeston Community Chest campaign have been calling on Sikeston businesses and individuals to contribute to the 1959 financial support of the 8 health, welfare and character building agencies, and to date you have contributed only 90% of the necessary funds for The Sikeston Community Chest.

You are asked to contribute not to ONE agency, but to EIGHT separate and deserving agencies all wrapped up in this single campaign.

This drive MUST NOT fail. It CANNOT fail. Our goal is $40,000 and it represents the absolute minimum need of the essential work of the agencies. This goal is moderate for our otherwise progressive city.

LOOK AROUND YOU!

Jackson, with about one-half the population of Sikeston, has already reached 99.2 percent of her goal.

How can we ask industry and pay-rolls to come to Sikeston when we are seemingly so derelict in our obligation to the unfortunate?

We believe this appeal will reach the heart of Sikeston, which, when touched, can overflow with human compassion sufficient to prove to the world that Sikeston cares for her own.

Are we right? Of course we are! We know we are! All Sikeston needs is to know what her duty is. Sikeston must raise approximately $3,995.00 more — and raise it this week!

HERE'S HOW!

You who have NOT contributed or been approached for your contribution can mail your check NOW, or write your pledge—stating how much you'll give, and how payable—giving your full name and business address.

You who have already contributed should, through soul-searching, see how much MORE you should give to equal a fair share.

Employers whose employees have not contributed should act to see that every employed person is solicited; and do it NOW. Employees should be encouraged to give by allowing them pay-roll deduction.

What are you willing to do to save the name of Sikeston? Are you willing to do more?

We sincerely ask you to act and act now. Mail all responses to: Sikeston Community Chest, Sikeston, Mo.

The money you will contribute will go to eight participating agencies: The American Red Cross, American Cancer Society, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Local Welfare Service, Missouri Delta Community Hospital, Salvation Army, Missouri Children's Home Society.

Contributions may be mailed to Mr. Earl Jarvis, Mrs. Jewell Allen, Charles D. Matthews, treasurer, or Dr. Frank Sisson, secretary. Or, if you prefer, a telephone call to any of these people will bring a representative of the Community Chest to your door to accept your contribution.

Richman Sanders Died In Cape Girardeau Sunday

ILLMO — Richman Sanders, 74, a retired farmer, died Sunday evening at a hospital in Cape Girardeau. He was born June 30, 1884, in Commerce, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Phillmore Sanders and was a member of the Benton Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Alice M. Loftin of Commerce, to whom he was married March 7, 1906; four sons, Elmer of Grandview, Mo., Reece and Garnett, both of Cape Girardeau and George Sanders of Chaffee; six daughters, Mrs. Velma Hodgekiss of St. Louis, Mrs. Lila Bradshaw of Cairo, Mrs. Grace Keesee, Cape Girardeau, Mrs. Irene Cannon and Mrs. Alice Malcolm, both of Sikeston, and Mrs. Jane Thompson of Jackson, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Mary Scherer of Bell City; two brothers, Roy of Cape Girardeau and Phil Sanders of St. Louis; 33 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

The body is at the Bisplinghoff Funeral Home in Illmo where it will remain until time for services Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Methodist church in Benton with Rev. G. Maxwell Teeter officiating, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Wesley Clark. Burial will be in the Oak Dale Cemetery near Commerce.

PYRAMIDS WON'T BE PUSHED AROUND

Proof beyond question was provided last week that Americans take the appearance of their favorite products as seriously as the quality. One of the most remarkable events in modern merchandising occurred when R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company began a test of a slightly different label for Camel Cigarettes. No change whatever was made in the product itself.

The few minor changes made in the familiar package were a modernization of the 45-year-old design which the company felt would pass without conscious notice by most smokers and be noted with only casual curiosity by a few. Public reaction proved astonishing.

The package changes drew immediate response from loyal Camel smokers with most objecting to any change in their familiar package. Thus the test came to an end. As a measure of the true loyalty of smokers to their favorite cigarette, this test provided the greatest testimonial to Camel Cigarettes that could possibly be imagined.

R. J. Reynolds will discontinue the test and, in advertisements in newspapers throughout the country will publicly thank the millions of Camel smokers "for helping us to decide NOT to change the label of the best-liked cigarette of them all."

A company representative stated, "The extraordinary reaction we've had certainly indicates that these test packages are going to be real collectors' items in a very short time."

of Piedmont, forcing the evacuation of about 20 families at midnight last night.

Hall was rescued by a search party of about 30, including members of the Piedmont Volunteer Fire Department.

Dozens of families along normally small streams in the Fremont area were routed, along with the hunters.

Residents of the area described the downpour as the heaviest in their memory. The runoff from the streams sent Current River over its banks in places.

The cloudburst was accompanied by violent thunder and lightning, with some wind. It started about 8 p.m.

The Scott County hunting party included Roby and John Kight, Leon and Harold Kielhafner, Gilbert, Melvin and Nance Hamm, Chester Arnold, and Harold Kielhafner, Gilbert, Melvin and Nance Hamm, Chester Arnold, Bud Dugan, Jess Beckman, Cletus Bucher, Paul and Clyde Urhahn, and Leon Gosche. They found shelter at Fremont.

fashion" in carrying out the latest directive of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The court last Monday forbid the leasing of the empty high school buildings for use as private, segregated schools and directed the district judge and the Little Rock School Board to take positive steps toward integration.

The appellate court did not say what steps should be taken or how they should be carried out.

The incoming school board will be selected from such diverse candidates as an insurance man who once called Gov. Faubus a "skunk," and a housewife who recently took a Negro woman to a white church to embarrass a minister.

Until the final hours before the filing deadline Saturday midnight, it had appeared that the only candidate might be James T. Karam, a clothier and close personal friend of Gov. Faubus.

But Karam withdrew, saying that he had been advised to do so by a "close personal friend . . . who has an uncanny ability of placing his many friends in places where they are best needed. . . ."

Karam did not identify his friend.

Democrat Chairmen –

California in the West.

Eleven southern chairmen were solidly against the party taking any stronger position than it did two years ago, particularly on school integration.

Chairmen of 11 other states, mostly in the Midwest, said the views of Southern delegates should be taken into consideration.

Arizona Chairman Joseph Walton, Maryland's T. Barton Harrington and Nevada's Fred Strosnider declined comment. Strosnider said National Chairman Paul M. Butler had instructed party officials not to answer such questions.

Butler expects to find himself involved with the issue at a national committee meeting here Dec. 6. He has said his remaining as chairman may depend on reaction to his demand for a stronger civil rights plank than that of 1956.

Two years ago, the Democrats committed themselves to "continued efforts to eliminate illegal discrimination of any kind," including that in public education.

They said Supreme Court decisions, such as that outlawing school segregation, are "part of the law of the land." But they rejected the use of force in segregation matters.

Two state chairmen outside the South said a similarly worded plank would be acceptable. They were Oklahoma's Loyd Benefield and Vermont's E. Frank Branon.

Virginia's Thomas H. Blanton and Arkansas' Tom Harper said they think the party went far enough in 1956. They indicated they would accept a similar statement.

New Hampshire's J. Murray Devine came out for a compromise with the South.

"I believe in a moderate approach to the problem," he said. "You can't legislate this sort of thing. If we push it too fast we might destroy not only the Democratic party but the whole country."

Delaware's Garret E. Lyons said he favors a practical approach "which will unite, not divide, Democrats and which takes into consideration sectional problems."

William L. Coleman, Ohio chairman, said "I never saw any problem of this sort which couldn't be solved if everyone concerned was determined to sit down and solve it. . . . I believe the Democratic party is big enough to work it out."

A. Lessard said he is for a firm rather than a strong plank. He said it should contain something that "appreciates the South's problem," adding: "We can't run roughshod over them."

Indiana Chairman Charles E. Skillern said he favors a moderate civil rights plank. He suggested it might outline a program of integration starting in the lowest school grades and gradually working up.

Kansas' Frank Theis said that while the party must have a strong plank "I also favor getting along with the South."

"I don't think they ought to be insulted or driven out of the party," he said.

Seaborn P. Collins of New Mexico called for a compromise that would satisfy a majority of the delegates. He added that "I would hate to see a plank that would cause either the north or south to break with the party." Montana's Hugh Lemire said he, too, is inclined to compromise with the South.

Wyoming's Teno Roncalio said he favors a compromise, but called for "some leadership with guts to enforce the law of the land."

There were some statements that the party must strengthen its position on the issue, no mater what the cost in southern support.

Oregon's David Epps said the Democrats must have a stronger civil rights plank than the Republicans.

"We have to go farther to retain the North," he said. "No one likes to have a split or lose anyone but if we have to lose somebody, I'd rather lose the South."

Wisconsin's Patrick J. Lucey said he doesn't think the South will bolt. But he said "the wiser heads in the South must recognize that the election results this month are a mandate for a stronger stand on civil rights."

Michigan's Neil Staebler said the party has no choice but to adopt a strong plank.

John M. Bailey, Connecticut chairman, put it this way: "We've got to make our stand. What the South does is their business."

Missouri's Wilbur F. Daniels said that so far as he is concerned "there can't be any compromise with the law."

Minnesota's Ray Hemenway plugged for "an extremely strong" plank.

New York's Michael H. Prendergast called for "a forthright, positive and morally right stand."

Southerners made it clear they hold strong sentiments on the other side.

Georgia's John Sammons Bell said the Northerners will cave in when the time comes.

"the South has always been the citadel of strength for the Democratic party," Bell said. "The Democratic party is wise. It will make any compromise necessary to assure the support of the solid South for the Democratic nomination."

South Carolina's Thomas H. Pope and North Carolina's Woodrow W. Jones both suggested that the Democrats adopt a platform without mentioning civil rights.

YOUR INSURANCE MUST BE CATASTROPHE - PROOF!

Fires and accidents usually follow an expected pattern and such losses are paid by insurance companies out of current premiums received.

But sometimes the unusual happens! The wide-spread destruction caused by a catastrophic fire, explosion or windstorm can bring a sudden drain upon the resources of insurance companies.

Anticipating such disasters, leading capital stock insurance companies maintain reserves—built up over the years by careful conservation of resources.

For your security and peace of mind, make certain your protection is in sound capital stock insurance companies with sufficient reserves to meet all just claims through war, depression or disaster. We represent such companies.

We're putting the pyramids right back where they were !

Recently we have been testing a slightly different label on the Camel package. The experimental design changed the illustration and the wording a little. That's all. No change whatever was made in the famous Camel blend of choice Turkish and domestic tobaccos.

What we learned in the test is that Camel smokers prefer the original package, so we're putting the pyramids right back where they were, as quickly as we can do it. The test package is being discontinued, so you will soon be getting your Camels in the package you know so well.

We have always been proud of the loyalty of Camel smokers, and we thank you for helping us decide not to change the looks of the package that brings you the best-liked cigarette of them all! (Yes, we are happy to say that again this year, for the 10th straight year, Camel outsells all others!)
